SECOND STORM TEARS ACROSS TROPIC ZONE

Details Lacking of Caribbean Hurricane—Terrible Conditions at Belize

SURVIVORS FLEE TO THE INTERIOR

(By Pan-American Airways to its New York office and the Associated Press.)
Belize, British Honduras, Sept. 14.—A tropical storm of unknown intensity swept across the Caribbean and struck near Payo Ocho, Mexico, today, while terror-stricken victims of Thursday's hurricane here were fleeing Belize.

Payo Ocho, a village of about 1,700 inhabitants, is in a sparsely settled section, 150 miles north of this city.

Advice from a ship east of Belize indicated to the Miami, Fla., weather bureau that the report of the storm passing inland was in error and that this afternoon it still was offshore and very near the coast line. However, definite information was lacking.

A graphic first-hand picture of conditions in the hurricane area was sketched by Ridder Masson, local Pan-American field manager, as he returned from assisting in relief work.

TOWN DECIMATED
His report estimated the number of dead at "well over 1,000," and said the number was mounting constantly, "with the dead and injured equal to about one out of every ten persons in the city."

Masson told how the three great fears are that riots will break out among the lower class natives, that a water famine will occur with "terrible consequences," and that epidemics of disease will break out. "Whole families," he said, "are making their perilous way upriver to settlements in the jungle unscathed by the storm, confident they will be able to live on the natural staples of the jungle, with the meagre supplies of corn flour and other articles they may be able to secure from the tiny colonies along the river banks."

BAIL RENEWAL IS REFUSED HEADS OF DEFUNCT BONDHOUSE

TORONTO, Sept. 14 (CP).—Three heads of the defunct G. A. Stinson & Company bond house were in jail here tonight, following refusal of the Appellate Court at Oshawa, Ont., to renew bail set for two of them, Colonel P. G. Johnston, president, and Major L. E. Clark, vice-president. A third, Dr. H. J. Thomas, sales manager, has been in custody since his arrest, unable to raise bail.

THE trio were convicted this summer of circulating a false prospectus in connection with the Commerce and Transportation Building Company, Limited. They entered appeals immediately. Hearing of the appeals commenced today before Justices Riddell, Orde, Grant and Fisher.

ADVOCATES REPATRIATION

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—A delegation will be sent to Ottawa to urge upon the Dominion Government the necessity for repatriation of jobless aliens who desire to return to their countries of origin. It was decided at a meeting of the City Council today.

British Plane Sets New World Record In Schneider Race

Lieut. G. H. Stainforth Roars Around Course at 379 Miles an Hour—Flight-Lieut. J. N. Boothman Wins Trophy Permanently

CALSHOT, England, Sept. 14 (AP).—A world's speed record in the air was chalked up to the credit of Great Britain's Schneider Cup team today and the trophy was on her shoehelves for good.

MANY INJURED IN EXPLOSION

Second Blast in Philadelphia Plant Surrounded by Mystery

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14 (AP).—Twelve ambulances were rushed to the Atlantic Refining Company plant at Point Breeze, tonight, after a blast had shaken South Philadelphia and flames had shot skyward from the plant.

Seven men were fatally injured, nine critically injured and twenty others slightly hurt in an explosion at the plant Saturday.

Only firemen, policemen, doctors and nurses were admitted to the plant, and information as to the casualties was not immediately available.

Attaches at St. Agnes Hospital, where the injured were taken, refused to give out any information.

British Plane Sets New Speed Mark

FLYING over the Schneider Cup course at Calshot, Sunday, Lieut. G. H. Stainforth, of the British team, only entrant, France and Italy having withdrawn, established a new world's speed record of 379.5 miles an hour. He flew the fastest lap at 388.67 miles an hour. Flight-Lieut. J. N. Boothman went through the formality of winning the cup by flying seven times of a thirty-one-mile course at 340.08 miles an hour. The above layout shows the new S-5B mystery seaplane, constructed by British experts to defend the Motherland's right to the coveted trophy. Top, left and right: Squadron-Leader Orlebar, former holder of the world's record, 337 miles per hour; and Flight-Lieutenant Stainforth. Below, left and right: Flight-Lieutenant Long and Flight-Lieutenant Boothman.

FATHER SEES SON PERISH

Vancouver Man Drowns When Frail Fishing Boat Upsets

VANCOUVER, Sept. 14 (CP).—In full view of his father and brothers, who stood on the shore unable to render aid, William Abram Eyre, twenty-eight, drowned in the waters of English Bay, off University Hill, Point Grey, shortly after 6 o'clock this evening. The body had not been recovered last tonight.

The victim, with his father, C. Eyre, and a brother was engaged in crab fishing. He had put out a few minutes before in the boat to put out the fishing nets, and was standing up in the boat at his task, when the swell, believed to have taken him from the Victoria-bound ferry which had passed a moment or two before, hit the little craft and turned it over. Eyre's heavy gum boots dragged him down in an instant.

Admiral of Fleet Leaves for Home

QUEBEC, Sept. 14 (CP).—After a crowded three weeks' visit to Canada, which unfortunately was marred by the illness of himself and two of his children, Earl Jellicoe, Admiral of the Fleet, sailed for home Saturday.

The seventy-two-year-old seadog left a hospital bed at Montreal in the morning to catch a boat-train for Quebec, where he was to board the Empress of France. He left in Montreal his wife, Countess Jellicoe, who will care for the children, Lady Gwendoline Jellicoe and Viscount Brocas, both of whom underwent operations at the Royal Victoria Hospital there recently.

The other half, among whom, according to police information, were a number of Vancouver unemployed leaders, loudly refused to accept the city council's terms and when the willing ones took up their tools there were several minor combats and the strikers resolutely refused to allow the work to proceed.

By dint of threats and blows, the strikers succeeded in demoralizing the work gang to such an extent that the foremen finally decided to abandon the job, and both strikers and non-strikers dispersed to their homes just as police officers arrived. No arrests were made.

Working strenuously, firemen and citizens prevented the fire from spreading. The loss will be $40,000. The first big fire this year at Calsonar occurred on May 12. On June 22 a conflagration wiped out a large section of the town, causing damage of $400,000.

BRITISH EARL DEAD

LONDON, Sept. 14 (AP).—The Earl of Lauderdale died today in a London nursing home. His wife died in 1929.

Thousands gathered along the Solent watched breathlessly as the gleaming, wasp-like planes sped around the course in record-shattering time.

Many Believed Dead; Cyclone Destroys Town

A PAZ, Lower California, Sept. 14 (AP).—Meagre reports received here from Santa Rosalia today said the town was nearly destroyed by a cyclone yesterday.

A number of deaths resulted, the reports said, adding that most of the victims were drowned in a flood which accompanied the cyclone.

BATTLE HALTS RELIEF WORKS

North Vancouver Unemployed Clash With Gang in Protest Disturbance

NORTH VANCOUVER, Sept. 14.—Blows were exchanged and relief work schedules disrupted when a gang of local unemployed broke down on a relief gang doing road repair work at Eleventh Street and St. Andrews, shortly before 8 a.m. today, and forced them to down tools.

Nearly 100 men were involved in a short, sharp struggle, which ended in victory for the insurgent forces before the police, led by Chief Peter Stewart, arrived on the scene.

The scene was a protest by a group of North Vancouver city unemployed against municipal relief regulations, which require married unemployed to work for groceries and other necessities. For some time the men had been refusing to work on road grading at 8 a.m. today, but when the time came to start only about half the number showed willingness to do the work.

MINOR COMBATS

The other half, among whom, according to police information, were a number of Vancouver unemployed leaders, loudly refused to accept the city council's terms and when the willing ones took up their tools there were several minor combats and the strikers resolutely refused to allow the work to proceed.

By dint of threats and blows, the strikers succeeded in demoralizing the work gang to such an extent that the foremen finally decided to abandon the job, and both strikers and non-strikers dispersed to their homes just as police officers arrived. No arrests were made.

GANDHI SITS IN SILENCE

Mahatma Has Nothing to Say as Conference Takes Shape

LONDON, Sept. 14 (AP).—British and Indian political leaders assembled at historic St. James' Palace today for the opening meeting of the Federal Structures Committee, the most important single committee of the new Indian Round Table Conference. The conference opened with a series of speeches expressing hope and, in most cases, confidence that the great Indian problem would be settled, as heard.

The conference was opened by Lord Sankey, Lord High Chancellor and chairman. But Mahatma Gandhi, representative of the Indian National Congress, the man in whom most interest centred, sat in a place of honor at the council table and said nothing. Clad in a plain white dhoti, which afforded scanty protection against the chill of the centuries-old palace, Gandhi maintained his day of silence, which he has observed once a week for years.

Throughout today's meeting Gandhi kept a vacuum bottle filled with water, and the table in front of him, and occasionally sipped from it. Now and again he twiddled his thumbs or picked his fingernails. Occasionally he looked with a bored smile at a speaker, but otherwise was silent.

He sat at the left of Lord Sankey, on whose right was Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for India. The problem of the Federal Structures Committee is to evolve the framework for the federation of Indian states and principalities, which the Round Table Conference hopes to agree on for submission to the British Parliament.

MINISTERS WILL SEE TESTS MADE

Ships Prepare to Take First Grain Shipments From New Port of Churchill

CHURCHILL, Sept. 14.—Five members of the House of Commons, including three Cabinet ministers, will be at Churchill, Man., today, to witness a complete test of the Government-owned elevator and dock at the piers for Hudson Bay. The Ottawa party will be accompanied by the terminus of the Hudson Bay Railway Wednesday morning and leave late in the evening. Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, heads the Government delegation, which includes Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. T. G. Murphy, Minister of the Interior.

Half a million bushels of prime prairie wheat rest in the concrete vaults of the towering white elevator, offering testimony to the success of the first test for the terminal on the Hudson Bay route. The second test will be under way tomorrow, when a start is made on the loading of the first steamer to carry a test shipment of grain overseas by the bay route.

Working strenuously, firemen and citizens prevented the fire from spreading. The loss will be $40,000. The first big fire this year at Calsonar occurred on May 12. On June 22 a conflagration wiped out a large section of the town, causing damage of $400,000.

REBELLION IN AUSTRIA STAMPED OUT

Gov't Rounds Up Leaders in Short-Lived Putsch—Dictator Hiding

SCORE KILLED WHEN BRIDGE IS BLOWN

By EUGENE CRAWFORD
(Copyright, 1931, by The Chicago Daily News Forum Service.)
VIENNA, Sept. 14.—Among the Heimwehr leaders so far arrested in connection with yesterday's putsch in Austria are Herr Primmer, chief of staff, Engineer Rautner, and former Minister of the Interior Prince Rudiger von Starheimberg. Herr Primmer's whereabouts are unknown. He is reported to have been arrested, but the authorities neither confirm nor deny this. He is also reported to be hiding in Styria and, again, to have gone to Italy.

PRINCE ARRESTED
Prince von Starheimberg was a member of the Sclerpe-Vaughan Government ten months ago, and while minister delivered a public speech in which he said that when the Heimwehr took power many heads would roll in the sand. Today he is behind bars in the town of Ried, in the same prison where two men who attempted to murder King Zog of Albania await trial.

He is the head of one of Austria's most famous aristocratic families, and for several years maintained a private army of 600 Alpine castrats. He also is chief of the Heimwehr party, which represents the Austrian Parliament.

For both Austria and Hungary the week-end was one of terror and one which symbolized the triumph of the worse terrors these two states and other countries as well may witness before winter passes.

FASCIST UPRISING

In a score or more Austrian towns chiefly those situated in Austria's southernmost Province of Styria, the Fascist Heimwehr organization, which already had threatened to throw the country into an uproar by marching on Socialist Vienna, made an abortive attempt to carry out its off-repeated threat to cast the Parliamentary Government overboard and establish a Peasant dictatorship in Austria.

The first move toward this revolution, which was to last less than twenty-four hours, was made early this morning, only a few minutes after the Red Terror, raising its flag.

Final arrangements have been made and all is in readiness for the sixty-third annual Fall Exhibition of the North and South Saskatchewan Agricultural Society, to be held today and tomorrow in the Agricultural Hall and park at Saanichton.

OCEAN ARMEN NOW MISSING

Plane From Portugal Sighted Near Nova Scotia, New York Bound

HALIFAX, N.S., Sept. 15 (CP).—Willy Roddy and his two companions, flying from Portugal to New York, should have crossed the Nova Scotia coast from the East not later than 8 o'clock, Atlantic daylight time, last night.

Fog lay along the seaboard, and not a single authentic report of the D-2072 has been received from any point in this province. From the time the Penland sighted her 395 miles east of Halifax at 3:40 Monday afternoon, the craft had been unobserved.

At 2:30 this morning, forty-four hours out of Juncal du Sol, the flyers were overdue at New York.

MAY HAVE ALTERED COURSE
There was some possibility, however, that they had altered their course to escape flying conditions along the coast, thereby delaying their arrival at the goal.

When the plane was observed at 1:40 p.m. E.S.T., by the St. Penland, it had been slightly more than thirty-three hours out of Portugal and had covered nearly 2,500 miles. Without any advance fanfare the flyers, Willy Roddy, Christian Johansson, and a Portuguese, Weira, the latter a Portuguese sportsman, took off from Juncal du Sol, about thirty miles from Lisbon, yesterday.

BIG SUM SPENT ON RADIO SETS

OTTAWA, Sept. 14 (CP).—Canada last year invested $2,776,200 in radio receiving sets. It was shown in a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Of the 223,228 sets sold, Ontario took 46 per cent, Quebec 27 per cent, British Columbia 7 per cent, Manitoba 5 per cent, Nova Scotia 3 per cent, Alberta 3 per cent, Saskatchewan 2 per cent, New Brunswick 2 per cent, and Prince Edward Island 3 per cent.

Never Short Of Funds for Destruction

TORONTO, Sept. 14 (CP).—The Communist party has never been short of funds when destruction was involved. It has succeeded in the last ten years in destroying organizations representative of easily 50,000 workers in this Dominion. Such was the statement made by Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, speaking at the official opening today of the International Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees.

Eight hundred delegates from all parts of Canada and the United States are attending this convention, which will last approximately twelve days. H. H. Hojeda, Detroit, is president.

SAANICH FAIR OPENS TODAY

Exhibition This Year Promises to Be Outstanding in History of District

Final arrangements have been made and all is in readiness for the sixty-third annual Fall Exhibition of the North and South Saskatchewan Agricultural Society, to be held today and tomorrow in the Agricultural Hall and park at Saanichton.

The official opening will take place at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Citizens' Day, when Premier S. P. Tomin will attend. Tomorrow also the Highland sports and Saanich school sports will be held, with the Victoria City Band in attendance. The evening will be marked by the annual ball in the Agricultural Hall.

The show this year promises to be one of the most successful ever staged by the organization, with some special competitions featuring the program.

SPECIAL FEATURE
Among these is a silver rosette prize, donated by Lieutenant-Governor J. W. Fordham Johnson, for the best female animal, any age, any breed; and exhibited animals, bred and raised by the exhibitor in British Columbia. Another is the event for herds, consisting of a registered bull, any dairy breed, two years old and over and two cows under three years. Seven herds have entered this event and herd competition is expected.

A large entry list has also been received for the purebred Jersey classes. As in past years a good exhibit, with hard-fought contests, is assured among the goats.

VEGETABLE CONTEST
Another feature is the class in which a collection of fifteen different kinds of vegetables will be displayed by each exhibitor. First prize will be the J. W. Tomin Silver Challenge Cup and miniature cup, donated by Premier Tomin, which becomes the permanent property of the winner.

Some of the largest prizes ever to be given at the fair are offered in the classes for grains, grasses, seeds, etc. These classes have been sponsored by Reeve William Crouch and members of the Municipal Council, and have stimulated much interest among growers.

The goat section of the exhibition comprises some of the best goats in British Columbia and great interest is being displayed among the competitors. The feature of this section will be the contest for the R. P. Butchart cup for the best dairy herd of goats, comprising three million goats, one yearling and one kid.

BANDITS SHOOT MAN AND ESCAPE CROWD

SASKATOON, Sept. 14.—Two bandits, armed with sawed-off shotguns, held up Bert Sanders, storekeeper of Vancoupy, Sask., Saturday night, and when he refused to hand over his cash shot him through the arm. The pair, it is believed, made their escape in a stolen car. They did not get away money.

Attracted by the storekeeper's shouts and the sound of shooting, a crowd quickly gathered in front of the shop. The two bandits, hemmed in the store and desperate, broke through the back and made a run for freedom. They ran towards the east end of the village and disappeared.

Manchester Chamber of Commerce Declares Itself in Favor of Imposition of Duties—Lord Incheape Admits He Has Changed His Views—Liberal Leader Also Changes

LONDON, Sept. 14.—With the Government sustained by a majority of fifty-seven on the second reading of the bill to authorize extensive economies by order-in-council, the attention of men and women of all shades of political faith is being drawn towards the imposition of tariffs as the only means by which the financial difficulties confronting the nation can be solved.

TRAIN SETS NEW RECORD

Cheltenham Flyer Exceeds Seventy-Seven Miles an Hour on Run

LONDON, Sept. 14 (CP).—The world record for the fastest start-to-stop train journey was regained today for Great Britain by the Cheltenham Flyer, which made the 77 1/4 miles from Swindon to London on the Great Western Railway in one hour flat.

The fastest train record was formerly held by the Chicago-Montreal Flyer, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which regularly makes the distance of 125 miles from Smith's Falls, Ont., to Montreal West in 108 minutes, a speed of 69.44 miles an hour. The train is the fastest on the Royal York day train.

CHEERED BY THOUSANDS
The trip of the Cheltenham Flyer, which had been announced in the press as a record attempt, created great excitement along the line, and thousands lined the right-of-way to watch the express speed by.

The Flyer along the rails at a speed which reached eight-and-five miles an hour slackening to a speed as she clicked over the points in London yards, the Cheltenham Flyer drew slowly into Paddington station to a rousing ovation from thousands of Londoners who had gathered there to see the end of the race against time.

The same train held a previous record of 62 1/2 miles an hour before the Canadian Pacific train, the Royal York, was put in service last Spring.

Bear Not Content To Accept Dole

BANFF, Sept. 14 (CP).—Apparently greatly dissatisfied with the handouts he has begged from cottagers all summer, a big black bear marched into the kitchen of Mrs. W. H. McEwen's Summer home here hunting edibles. Unable to gain access to the refrigerator, the impatient brute picked it up bodily and crashed it to the floor. He fled when the racket brought the cottage folk to the scene.

CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGE PLANNED

Provincial Councils in South Africa Likely to Be Abolished Because of Deficits

CAPETOWN, Sept. 14 (CP).—What is regarded as the most important change in the constitution of the Union of South Africa since its formation in 1910 is in prospect. It is expected the Government's decision to abolish provincial councils will be announced in a speech by Hon. J. B. M. Hertzog, Prime Minister, at the meeting of the Transvaal National Party tomorrow.

The provinces of the union are the Cape of Good Hope, Natal, the Transvaal and the Orange Free State. Each province has a provincial council empowered to legislate in certain matters and impose direct taxation for provincial purposes. The chief reason given for the proposal to abolish the councils is their inability to balance their budgets. All of them show heavy deficits necessitating further taxation, which the Union Government refuses to allow them to impose.

ALLEGATIONS OF CRUELTY MADE

Statement by Oakalla Prisoner Agitates Local Council of Women

Allegations of cruelty to prisoners and "inhuman conditions" caused a stir in the Local Council of Women yesterday at its first meeting of the winter season. The matter was brought to the meeting in the form of a statement, signed by one of the prisoners, forwarded through Miss Dora Kitchin with an introductory letter. Purporting to be "a truthful account of conditions in Oakalla," the prisoner's communication asked that steps be taken to denounce such conditions as they were protested against in the document. On motion of Miss Duke, the council appointed a committee of three to go into the matter and advise what action should be taken.

The prisoner making the allegation emphasized particularly that prisoners awaiting trial were treated just the same as those convicted and serving long-term sentences. A general complaint was made against the inferior quality of the food, the soup being described as "unfit for human consumption," and a distressing picture was given of the loathsome infection that prevailed in the cells. Conditions to which many prisoners were exposed owing to lack of isolation methods in connection with diseased inmates. Explicit complaints were made against the lack of aired blankets, the herding of prisoners into a dusty court for such exercise as they were permitted, and the placing of young prisoners with hardened criminals.

ARE RIOTS NEEDED?
"Are the Canadian authorities waiting until riots occur before improving conditions?" the writer of the letter challenged, after recalling that an American had called attention to the fact that had food had been general in United States prisons until riots had called attention to the defect. The Oakalla informant claimed that advertised visits naturally failed to disclose any of the evils mentioned, as this gave time for everything to be in order. Inquiries should be made regarding the brutal beating of a prisoner, a man of sixty-three, who was beaten for throwing his food out of the window," the writer commented elsewhere, after describing the conditions generally as "a relic of the Middle Ages."

The communication precipitated a heated discussion during which several of the council members expressed the view that there might be just occasion for some drastic effort at reform at Oakalla.

WANT FREE FILMS
Among the three committees convened reports that by Mr. Llewellyn Thomas, convener of the standing committee on films, occupied most time and provoked most discussion, having called attention to the formation of a syndicate to control distribution of educational films. The council unanimously supported his recommendation that the Government to do all in its power to secure free interchange of Government news reels and educational pictures. The writer of the letter, Mr. Thomas, who said that it had been reported that 80 per cent of children in one locality in British Columbia, when asked to write an essay on "The Flag" had written about the Stars and Stripes.

The council supported Mrs. Thomas' request that a letter of appreciation be sent to Mrs. Hawshaw, of the National Council, for the considerable fine attitude she had taken in meeting the overtures of the Colonel Cooper picture organization.

EMPLOYED WOMEN
Mrs. W. J. H. Hines gave a report of the meetings held for relief for unemployed women, which she had attended as the council's delegate, the first of these being at the Y.W.C.A. on August 20, and a subsequent meeting being a conference at the City Hall with the men's unemployment committee, which had sympathetically received the recommendation that married men and women, and unmarried men and women should share equally the benefits of the unemployment fund.

Mrs. H. P. Hodges and Miss Macleod supplemented this statement by telling of the plans for the opening of a central workshop to give employment to women in need of relief. Their appeal resulted in a donation of $10 from the council, and the council further decided, on motion of Mrs. Alcock, to hold a tea on behalf of the unemployed women's workshop fund.

TOWN PLANNING
A summary of suggestions for the beautification of Victoria which had been received and forwarded by her to the right authorities was contained in Mrs. Hutchings' report as convener of the standing committee on town planning.

More than one correspondent had called attention to the neglected state of Victoria's vacant lots, a Calgary correspondent having asked how it was possible for such a naturally beautiful city to tolerate weeds, factory smoke and other eyesores, while others had called attention to the need of better roads between Oak Bay and Victoria, better motor-driving regulations, better marking of street names and need of clearer sidewalks.

PROVINCIAL COUNCIL
Correspondence from the Provincial Council reminded the local Council of the Provincial Council meeting on Thursday, October 15. A letter from the National Council expressed thanks for the donation sent by the Victoria Council in connection with the gift made to the late president, Mrs. J. W. Wilson.

Mrs. White Birch, who has resigned from the council, was thanked for her services.

hand in Hungary, had murdered twenty persons and injured two more by blowing a railway trestle into the air. Here half of the twelve-car international express train, with its four score occupants, was hurled into an abyss ninety feet below the trestle.

COMMUNIST WORK
The trestle was that near Budapest, thirty miles west of Bator, and the train was the Budapest-Colony night express. At the end of the trestle, however, the train was Communist, had placed an infernal machine filled with nitroglycerine, so arranged as to explode when the train touched the trestle. From the machine to the tracks, wires had been laid so the train would set the device off by establishing an electric connection.

By the explosion the locomotive, baggage car and five coaches were plunged into the depths, one tangled in the trees, another in the bushes, and the rest scattered in all directions. The explosion occurred at midnight. Shortly afterward hospital trains, a police force and fire trucks arrived from Budapest. Fastened to the fragment of fuse was found a piece of paper on which, apparently in a woman's handwriting, was written, "If the capitalists will not furnish work, we know how to make it."

Immediately, for a radius of twenty-five miles, the police and gendarmes threw a dragnet in hopes of catching the perpetrators of the crime—until this writing unsuccessful, although several suspicious characters were detained.

LED BY LAWYER
The Fascist terror in Austria, which began almost before the echo of the Red terror in Hungary had died away, was on a much larger scale but less efficiently planned and hence unsuccessful, except in that it cost two lives, placed a dozen persons in hospitals and caused the State to spend thousands of dollars, which it badly needs to balance the budget.

This terror was organized by a small town lawyer named Walter Pfirmer, who aspires to become the Austrian Mussolini. He is leader of the Heimwehr organization in the Province of Styria. Unfortunately for his ambitions, however, not only the Austrian government but also the German government, and other Heimwehr leaders in other provinces also wish to be Austrian dictators.

DID NOT WAIT
The Heimwehr, mostly peasants, were willing to maneuver, but were anxious to fight. They obeyed Herr Pfirmer's orders to burst into brightly-colored star shells. They cheer loudly, and again and again the rockets burst.

A man holds the head of a sea-serpent. A young woman begins to sing "I won't be long now"—then changes her song to "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here." Surrounding small boats join in the song. More chilled hours pass.

RIDDLED BUILDING
At Kapfenberg, a steel center, the main building here the Heimwehr a few minutes before my arrival had turned their machine guns on the Workers' Club and on an inn where, whose body, blood-stained clothing, still lay warm, heaped in a corner. From the Heimwehr headquarters nearby the machine guns still covered the clubhouse.

Meanwhile, in the steel workers' cautions, also not distant, the Heimwehr held five important Socialist leaders as hostages so that nobody should shoot from the club.

It was accompanied in an inspection of the club by the mayor of Kapfenberg, who himself had been released by the Heimwehr less than an hour previously. Early in the morning the Heimwehr had broken into the mayor's home by burning the door with rifle bullets, captured the mayor and held him for several hours.

Similar scenes were enacted in other Styrian towns. But for the Kapfenberg killing and another in the town of Knittelfeld, the whole revolution would have been an expensive farce.

GAVE BACK GUNS
Once the Heimwehr threatened me with a revolver, but refrained from shooting when I explained that I was a neutral journalist. In most places, however, both the Heimwehr and the Socialists—each in their respective camps—were quite friendly and each, also, appeared to be glad when the troops finally arrived and ordered them to disperse.

Following the arrival of the troops the Heimwehr and Police disarmed each other in several towns. The matter was finally settled, as far as could be ascertained, by the soldiers forcing each other to return the other's arms, so that when the Heimwehr finally went to the

WILL ADVOCATE DISARMAMENT

Meeting Will Be Held Here on Armistice Day Under Ministerial Auspices

The Victoria General Ministerial Association is planning a disarmament meeting, to be held in the city on Armistice Day. This will be carried out somewhat after the plan of the great gathering which was held recently in London, England, when the leaders of the three political parties declared themselves opposed to war.

At the meeting of the Ministerial Association yesterday morning in the Y.M.C.A. this matter was discussed and action decided upon.

A committee, with Very Rev. C. S. Quinton, as chairman, was appointed, and will proceed with the arrangements for this meeting.

decks, a few minutes after the crash, the dynamo of the ship had already died when everyone became aware of the plight of the Colombia. Lifelines were poised, ready, at the rails, when all reached the top deck. Officers and crew helped women and children over the rails into the ready boats.

FAMILY UNITED
Here was no real tragedy of the sea, but a picture of pathos. A father leaning over the rail, embracing and kissing his wife and two children, a man ready to jump to stay on board, sending his loved ones into darkness.

An officer, human and understanding, and a father, who witnessed this, then gently grasped the arm of the man on the rail and helped him into a laden boat, the last passenger in his boat already filled. A father with wife and children.

This was panic averted by common sense on the part of the officers and by precise and stern orders at the same time.

SEE SEARCHLIGHT
A searchlight sweeps the seas. But it's a long way off. It's 4 o'clock and still very dark. The light does appear and our hearts beat. But the faithful skipper has seen it, and from the battered vessel go up great distress rockets, high into the skies, and burst into hundreds of brightly-colored star shells.

We cheer loudly, and again and again the rockets burst. A man gives a scantly-attired woman his coat and even his hat. The night is chilled and damp. A Filipino member of the crew in our midst, however, is not deterred by a weary mother of the burden of the child in her arms.

SEVEN BATTLE LARGE COUGAR

Long Fight Staged by Hunting Party Before Capturing Seven-Foot Animal

While most hunters who went out over the week-end reposed under trees and enjoyed undisturbed sleep, seven game seekers of Victoria were engaged in a battle with a cougar, near the foot of Green Mountain, in the Seventeen Mile district, on Saturday night. The story of a seven-hour fight, including three hours of chasing, was told by members of the party who returned to the city yesterday.

About 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Clyde Nicol and Kenneth Richmond, both of 1411 Esquimaux Road, were scouting near the base of the mountain while the other five members of the party were engaged in preparing the evening meal. Suddenly the pair came upon a cougar resting quietly in a swamp.

SUMMONED COMRADES
Hurry back to the camp they summoned their comrades and, forming a circle, the party treed the animal. Guns blazed and the cougar dropped from a limb of the tree for only a moment—springing up, the animal gave fight and jumped and snarled at members of the party, making savage attacks with his paws.

When it could gain nothing that way the animal turned and bolted into a bush with the seven hunters following. Then ensued a three-hour chase through dense underbrush, during which the members of the party gained little ground until, apparently overcome by his wounds, the cougar was brought to bay.

AGAIN GIVES FIGHT
Believing that this time it was worn out with the hard chase, the hunters were unprepared when, closing in rather hurriedly, the cougar again leaped in the air and showed fight. Its spirit, however, was soon brought to an end when, with a noise that frightened deer and startled sheep for miles around, seven guns discharged and filled the sheep killer with lead.

Carrying the animal between them, the weary hunters began their trek back to camp, returning at 1:30 a.m., satisfied that they had removed from the district another dangerous menace to sheep and that the Government would acknowledge it.

News Plane From Honduras Possibly Destroyed by Lightning Flash

VERO BEACH, Fla., Sept. 14 (AP).—Facing northward through storms with news pictures of the damage wrought by the hurricane that devastated Belize, British Honduras, three men were killed last night when their aeroplane crashed at Ocho, three miles south of here.

The dead: E. A. Edwards, thirty-nine, staff photographer for The Miami Daily Herald; George H. Gibson, twenty-six, chief pilot for the Curtis-Wright Flying Service, Inc.; and G. R. (Roe) McBroon, twenty-two, co-pilot. All were from Miami.

Some distance south of here, the plane ran into a severe rain and electrical storm. Residents who heard the crash said they believed the plane was struck by lightning.

penditures, as claimed by the ministers who have remained with Prime Minister MacDonald.

Sir Herbert Samuel, who headed the Liberal delegation during the negotiations with the Labor Government, entered the controversy by reading the notes he had taken during the conversations. These showed the Labor Government had agreed to a 15 per cent cut in teachers' salaries and a 10 per cent cut in the salaries of the Home Secretary, the Minister of Education, and the Minister of Agriculture.

SNOWDEN AGREES
From the front Opposition bench, one after another ministers of the old Labor Government rose in objection to Sir Herbert's statements. But the Home Secretary persisted, and his story was supported by Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

The members of the late government are not free to attack in September what they were prepared to accept in August, Sir Herbert declared. The cuts proposed in the present economy bill, with the exception of the cuts in unemployment insurance benefits, had been accepted by the late government, Sir Herbert maintained.

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—The ranks of the unemployed have been depleted by 15,000 men who have been placed on farms in Canada as the result of plans drawn up by the Minister of Immigration and Colonization, Hon. Wesley A. Gordon.

The machinery of the Soldiers' Settlement Board is co-operating with the Canadian National Railway and Canadian Pacific Railway in the work.

Up to the present 3,449 families and 10,860 single men have been placed by the Dominion, while the Province of Ontario has similarly placed 800 families and 2,000 single men, and the Province of Quebec 450 families and 300 single men.

Historic Mining Town Fire Swept

ANGELS CAMP, Cal., Sept. 14 (AP).—This historic mining town was swept by fire yesterday, and city officials estimated approximately $100,000 worth of damage had been caused by the blaze, which razed virtually an entire block.

Landmarks immortalized by Mark Twain in his "Jumping Frog of Calaveras" were destroyed. Exploding gas tanks and ammunition added to the peril of the fire fighters. Sheets of asbestos were obtained to protect telephone girls, who stood by their posts despite the terrific heat.

SEEK VISIT OF CARAVAN TO VICTORIA

Chamber of Commerce Loses No Time Discussing Results of Tour

COMMITTEE WILL FORMULATE PLANS

The good-will caravan of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday reported upon its recent tour of Vancouver Island, and action was immediately taken by the directors of the chamber to endeavor to obtain results therefrom. A committee composed of President R. W. Mayhew, Vice-President James Parfitt, and David Leeming, president of the Publicity Bureau, was named to formulate a plan to embody requests from various communities on Vancouver Island.

This will go before the directors of the Victoria body and, after discussion and revision, if necessary, it will be placed before the various boards of the Island and discussed. It is hoped that delegations from the outside boards may constitute a return caravan and visit Victoria. They would be entertained here and steps would be taken to place any requests before the governments or other bodies concerned.

NOTE OF APPRECIATION
Mr. Mayhew, in presenting his report of the caravan, paid a compliment to the businessmen who made the trip in the interests of establishing good will among the communities of the Island. He also praised the hotels visited, and which were doing much to foster the tourist trade by their accommodation. In this connection he thanked the Campbell River Logging Company for its dinner entertainment at Garrett on Mendoc Bay.

Mr. Mayhew said he was of the opinion that Victoria should take a definite stand on some of the requests made. He considered Strathcona Park and its future was a matter that seemed to affect most of the communities on the Island. There were great possibilities there and he thought an attempt should be made to decide upon a policy.

FISHING IMPORTANT
Game fishing also was an important matter and the chamber ought to decide upon a policy it could support in the matter of conservation, he said. The attractions of Spruce Lake are reached at two ends with no wharves, or other attractions open to the public. The Alberni road required attention. The Island road from Duncan Bay to Garrett also required attention in the way of traveling. There is a road to the Elk Falls and no protection against danger at the Falls. There was a demand at Alberni for the Spruce Lake-Tofino road, and also a request to maintain the road minus of the Transcanada Highway. All these matters should be considered by the chamber and some decision reached with regard to what it would advocate.

Another matter which was brought home to him was the disadvantage of the Malahat Drive. Every accident on that road was a deterrent to traffic with Victoria. Authorities should take steps to prevent accidents. In connection with the Malahat he also said that there should be something done to prevent the erection of unsightly buildings which shut out scenic views. There were many inexpensive proposals presented to the caravan members and these should be taken up without delay, he said.

BUSINESS WAITING
James Parfitt, vice-president, supported the stand of the president. He thought after the money that had been spent on Strathcona Park there should be a road into it. The place should be developed.

J. P. Forde, Dominion Government engineer, who made the trip, not as a member of the Chamber of Commerce but on invitation, so that he could get a clear idea of the requests that were being made and upon some of which he might be asked by his department to report, said he appreciated the courtesy shown him. He suggested formation of a return caravan from Victoria.

STRATHCONA PARK
On the request of D. W. Campbell, George I. Warren was asked to explain the position of the Dominion Government with regard to Strathcona Park. He said that in the time when the late John Oliver was Premier there were negotiations for the taking over of the park by the Dominion. The conditions were considered. The Dominion would only take the park and convert it into a national undertaking if it were to be devoted to park purposes alone. Mr. Oliver could not accept that condition as there was the question of water power, of timber rights, and the possibility of minerals being discovered, which must remain with the Province.

David Leeming said that when he left here he expected the trip would be one in which business would be brought prominently forward. Instead of this, he heard practically nothing of that. He heard nothing about the coal situation, or any other industry. What he did hear about, however, was the tourists and the need of good roads to take care of them. He felt there must be preservation of sea fisheries, propagation of sporting fish, and maintenance of some sections of timber.

OUTSTANDING ATTRACTION
D. W. Campbell brought to the attention of the meeting the fact that there was not an outstanding attraction on the Island available for tourists. The development of Strathcona Park would afford such an attraction. At the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Mayhew paid a compliment to the enterprise of a fellow-townsmen, J. H. Maitson, who had provided a system of transportation for the Island which could not be praised too highly. Everywhere this was spoken of in the highest terms, said the president. It was appreciated just as highly at all points on the Island as here. He appreciated the fact that Mr. Forde had joined the caravan, and also the action of Premier Tominie in requesting Dr. McNaughton, M.P.P. for Comox, to join the caravan.

Seems to Be at Home

What, No Cream for the Tea? Says One of the Deer in Richmond Park, London, as He Stumbles Upon a Table Already Set for Him.

All speakers paid compliments to President Mayhew for the way in which he had handled the caravan. A formal vote of thanks was passed by Alderman W. T. Straith, expressing appreciation of Mr. Mayhew's services, was passed by the directors.

PROVINCE TO MEET CITIES

Definite Announcement Expected From Provincial Gov't at Union Parley

After a long-distance telephone conversation with Senator Gideon Robertson, at Ottawa, yesterday, and Cabinet sessions running up to 10:30 o'clock last night, the Provincial Government expected to be in a position to make a definite announcement to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities at New Westminster today. This is expected to be a definite offer that the Provincial Government will pay one-quarter of approved municipal relief programs. The quarter will apply on labor, it is understood, while disbursement of material cost is still undecided.

The Government's announcement will be made by Hon. R. W. Brunh, Minister of Public Works, who, with Hon. J. W. Jones and Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, crossed to Vancouver last evening, en route to the municipal convention.

"We expect to have something definite to tell the municipalities tomorrow, but are still awaiting reply to last-minute inquiries we have contributed one-quarter to the cost of providing for these men, if the Federal and Provincial Governments assume the rest of the burden. No action was taken on the proposal, it is understood, the matter being still under discussion when the Cabinet rose at 10:30 p.m. for the day."

Premier Tominie did not reveal the text of his conversation with Senator Robertson. It is understood, however, that the subject of the long-distance telephone with Senator Robertson, it is understood, was given. Confirmatory telegrams are expected this morning. The delay, it was explained, was not of high hopes that the proposal that the national scheme be set in motion by order-in-council, without the necessity for referenda to municipal bodies, and the delay, it was explained, was not of high hopes that the proposal that the national scheme be set in motion by order-in-council, without the necessity for referenda to municipal bodies, and the delay, it was explained, was not of high hopes that the proposal that the national scheme be set in motion by order-in-council, without the necessity for referenda to municipal bodies.

VANCOUVER'S REQUEST
At its evening sitting the Cabinet took under advisement a proposal by Vancouver city officials in respect to 4,000 residents the city said could not be provided for without Government help. Vancouver is understood to have made the proposal to contribute one-quarter to the cost of providing for these men, if the Federal and Provincial Governments assume the rest of the burden. No action was taken on the proposal, it is understood, the matter being still under discussion when the Cabinet rose at 10:30 p.m. for the day."

Applies, though slaking well and of fine color, may prove again a difficult market problem. It is estimated. The expected output is 4,500 cars, for which a visible market is in sight for 2,500 cars. Vigorous efforts are being made by the fruit and vegetable export markets, particularly in England, where aggressive advertising is underway, borne in part by a voluntary assessment on the producers. Bulk movement of apples to the prairies is playing an important part in the marketing, and ninety-eight cars have already been forwarded in this class, it is stated.

After sixteen years, a package of menu cards, some still partly legible, was found by the late John Oliver, who was Premier when the Dominion Government took over the park by the Dominion. The conditions were considered. The Dominion would only take the park and convert it into a national undertaking if it were to be devoted to park purposes alone. Mr. Oliver could not accept that condition as there was the question of water power, of timber rights, and the possibility of minerals being discovered, which must remain with the Province.

Magnesia Best for Gassy Stomach

Bismarck Magnesia Promptly Ends Gas, Sourness and Acid Indigestion

If everything you eat turns to gas and your stomach is a constant ferment of sourness and acid indigestion, try taking a little pure Bismarck Magnesia after meals for a while and get the immediate relief from stomach trouble this simple prescription unfailingly gives. It is a serious mistake to seek relief from indigestion or a bad stomach by using pepper or other artificial digestants. You get relief, but weaken the stomach and do not reach the cause, which, nine times in ten, is simply "too much acid" in the stomach. Bismarck Magnesia, taken after meals, dissolves or neutralizes this acid, sweetens and cleans up the stomach, drives out gas and bloating, and lets the stomach digest your food as nature intended without a particle of trouble.

Reliable druggists everywhere supply the genuine Bismarck Magnesia in both powder and tablets in sealed packages. Do not confuse with ordinary citrate, milk or lump magnesia. Be sure to get Bismarck, which is not a laxative and is especially prepared for stomach trouble. (Advt.)

WILL CONSIDER TUITION COSTS

Committee of Eighteen Will Review Teaching Emoluments in B.C.

Teaching emoluments in all grades of British Columbia schools will be considered shortly by a special committee of eighteen educationists representing the Provincial Government, civic administrations, school boards and the teaching body. It was stated yesterday by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, a member of the British Columbia judiciary will act as chairman of the committee and selection of the personnel is now going forward.

The last before the committee will be to survey the scheduled analysis of all phases of teaching duties, recently compiled by the Department of Education and concurred in, in part, by the British Columbia Teachers' Federation. The analysis treats of all types of teaching, in all kinds of schools, from elementary to the highest grades. The committee will be asked to suggest fair emoluments for the basic and added duties assumed by teachers in every position in the system. Existing contracts will not be endangered, and the sum total of all teachers' salaries will not be reduced, it has already been explained.

The composition of the committee, the Minister of Education stated, would include three representatives of the Provincial Government, three from the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, three from the B.C. School Trustees' Association, and the remaining nine from the B.C. Teachers' Federation. This make-up will give an even voice to teachers and to those who pay their salaries. The committee will be presided over by an impartial chairman, chosen from the British Columbia judiciary.

Invitations have already been sent to the different bodies to select their representatives, it is stated.

Just Roamin' Around

BY TWO ROVERS

"Why don't more people in British Columbia raise pigeons?" I asked Rover, and he said: "Because they spend most of their time raising Cain!"

That's as may be, of course. As a matter of fact, like everything else in this complex life of ours, there's much to be said for and against pigeon raising.

One of the main arguments we have heard against it is that it is "not quite the thing, don't you know." As if it mattered a jot whether anyone else does this or that; if it pays to raise these fine-looking and most useful birds, and if we want to have them around the farm or the garden, why, in the name of billing and cooing, not do so? Why be eternally on one's dignity, or thinking something or other is unbecoming?

The very best people, that is, the socially quite secure, keep pigeons, raise pigeons, and they get a great kick out of it; and, so far, none of them has suffered any loss of social or financial prestige over it. The first thing to do is to "raise the wind," then buy and raise some doves, plain or fancy, according to your fancy, and raise a pigeon loft, aloft; then raise a family of squabs and erase your personality fancy pride.

Read every book you can discover from cover to cover on the subject of "raising pigeons," for, like every other hobby, and like every other enterprise, it is necessary to enter into your newest endeavor with knowledge and vim, in order to secure the prize of being successful; then take up this subject with your neighbors and get them "het up" and on your street you can hold Pigeon shows in your spare time.

"Is a knowledge of 'pigeon-English' necessary?" asked Rover. "No," I retorted, "neither is a knowledge of 'bad English' either. Rover, but the latter is so common that it would be as well to avoid it, where possible."

The breeding and rearing of pigeons is a profitable hobby with many. It is best to begin with a few high-class birds. Proper attention should be given to their housing; clean, high, dry dovecots are imperative. The "chief" causes of disease and death among pigeons are dirt, draughts in badly constructed lofts, and damp.

"Dirt, draughts (overdraught) and damp cause disease and often death in our human affairs, too," said I, as Rover looked up questioning, "and, like humans, doves require a variety of food and a constant supply of good water for drinking and bathing."

"I know quite a few of your species, Master, who require none for drinking, and, apparently, little for bathing!"

"That's about all from you," I said sternly, and then I remembered that that was about all from me, too, today.

A DOVE-COT RECIPE

Take a little job, until it leads to better, for a while; Take a little bank book, fit it full of savings, as you smile; Take a little bit of lumber; As a banker and some pals; Take a little work, and slumber; Less, and slave till daylight falls; Take a little chum and tell her; That you love her—mightily well; Take a little ring, young fellow! Take no "No" to what you tell; Take a modest trip together; On a modest honeymoon; And I know 'twill stand the weather. If you build your dove-cot, soon!

"Dirt, draughts (overdraught) and damp cause disease and often death in our human affairs, too," said I, as Rover looked up questioning, "and, like humans, doves require a variety of food and a constant supply of good water for drinking and bathing."

"I know quite a few of your species, Master, who require none for drinking, and, apparently, little for bathing!"

"That's about all from you," I said sternly, and then I remembered that that was about all from me, too, today.

AERIAL SPEED RECORDS

It is no mean accomplishment to beat the world's speed record in the air by over fifty miles. That is the feat which lies to the credit of Lieut. G. H. Stanforth. His speed in an exhibition flight in connection with the Schneider Cup races was 379.05 miles per hour, as compared with Squadron Leader Oriabar's feat of traveling at a rate of 328.63 miles an hour in the last contest. Thus a notable advance is registered in aerial speed. It was not a freak performance because the British machines in practice reached even nearer to 400 miles an hour, and on one occasion exceeded that speed. As well, the walk-over feat of Flight Lieut. J. H. Boothman, which gave Britain permanent possession of the Schneider Trophy, was at the rate of 340.08 miles an hour, a sufficient speed to beat the record.

The latest flights are new evidence of the strength and power developed by British engines and the skill and cool-headedness of British pilots. From the performances there is hardly any reason to doubt that if France and Italy had been competing it would have made no difference in the result, except the possibility that the British pilots would have been edged on to insure even faster performances. Britain now holds the records of speed on sea, on the land and in the air. That is a remarkable advertisement for British engine construction which, as in the past, continues to lead all competitors.

PROPAGANDA

There is a certain aspiration, expressed in the formal language of petition to the heavenly powers, but really intended, as many prayers are indeed intended, chiefly as a self-reminder, a maxim for guidance in the conduct of life, a spur to action, a tonic to maintain and improve one's own morale. Owing to the fact that this aspiration or prayer in its most familiar and quotable form is in the dialect of the Scot, some people are apt to imagine that the Scot is the only man who prays for a good conceit of himself. There never was a greater error. It is perhaps an arguable question whether the average American citizen has come within measurable distance of the Scot in regard to the degree of confidence which he actually feels in his own powers, moral and intellectual. In his desire to think well of himself, however, to persuade his fellow-citizens to think well of themselves, and to impress the outside world with the idea that his nation is the greatest nation on the planet, the American is quite the equal of any man, and in the persistence of his efforts to achieve his desire he is probably unsurpassed.

History furnishes several striking illustrations of the effect that can be produced in national character and national life generally by the influence of a national ideal constantly kept in mind. Ever since the unpleasantness which occurred about 1776, our separated brethren have pursued one undeviating line of conduct in stimulating and maintaining a spirit of patriotism. Their orators, newspapers, advertisements, magazines, picture films and, of course, their school books, all join in one voice and in one accord to acclaim American achievements, American capacity, American statesmen, ideals, ideas, conduct, character, as belonging distinctly in a class by themselves.

One hundred and fifty years of this robust policy have produced far-reaching results; results which may be observed even on our own side of the international boundary in the minds of young people who have depended for their intellectual subsistence upon a steady diet of American magazine "literature." The Canadian Government has taken steps to diminish somewhat the flood of American commercial, social, "cultural," and political propaganda flowing over the border, and it was certainly high time to do so. Andre Maurois speaks of the shyness and self-distrust of the Americans in the fine art of conversation as still unconquered, but if he is right in thinking that they are deficient in that form of the art of self-expression, as the French understand it, their shortcomings in that respect are overshadowed by their success in advertising in other ways the supreme excellence, as they regard it, of American achievements in industry, business, and the practical arts of civilization.

For illustration of the methods employed one need but glance at almost any page of any American publication. An excellent article on the tariff in the forefront of an American magazine appears in its current issue. "Our technical methods," remarks the writer, "at the moment the most advanced in the world, are being studied and imitated by foreign groups." Again, "there is no indication that we are soon to find ourselves in England's delicate and unstable position." He advises his fellow-countrymen to "avoid unnecessary and fruitless entanglements with world economy, and to concentrate on the well-being of our own citizens as the prime requisite of a healthy and profitable state of our industry as a whole. With its dependencies, the United States forms one of the potential economic empires into which the earth's surface naturally falls." "Where stands England now, after the menopause of the World War?" he asks, and answers that her natural resources, though still great, are visibly diminishing, her markets are narrowing, competition grows sharper, her people show signs of discouragement, etc. What makes this sort of thing especially significant is that these extracts are themselves mere obiter dicta.

There is, of course, no reason why our good neighbors to the South should not advertise the virtues of the United States to their own people and to all the world, if they wish; but in this connection The Colonist has a suggestion to make. Our Departments of Education throughout Canada might very well furnish the schools with a year-book, especially prepared for the purpose, setting forth, in an attractive form, the activities of the British peoples throughout the world in the fields of industry and art. Such a publication in the hands of our competent and willing teachers would go far to clarify and readjust the ideas of our young people as to the relative worth of British ideals and achievements.

PRODUCTIVE WORK

The object of any and every unemployment relief work should be to foster those conditions which will promote permanent employment. In other words, productive work, on the best basis of productive energy, should be the motto of the hour. This implies a dollar's worth for every dollar expended. To insure this it should be only necessary to remind the authorities that it is the taxpayers' money that are being expended and that those in power are the trustees who are expected to see there is no waste and no slacking in the carrying out of the relief work.

The vast bulk of the unemployed want work, and want it badly. They want to maintain their self respect and provide for themselves and their families. They are willing to work and give full value for the wages they receive. In other words, they are prepared to co-operate in making the unemployed relief ventures successful in serving their immediate purpose and in laying the foundations of a new era of prosperity. The danger that exists is that slackers and agitators may see in the present conditions an opportunity to create dissatisfaction. There have been instances of their influence leading to men loafing on relief work. In this way such agitators, for malign purposes of their own, tend to perpetuate those conditions which gave rise to the necessity of relief work.

It is in connection with all public ventures at this time that special care should be exercised to insure against wastage of effort. It is a testing time for governments. It may well be that their political life is in the crucible of unemployment relief; in other words, the way they handle the situation will resolve their claim to renewed mandates of power. Apart from that feature of the present problem, there is the duty which they owe to the taxpayers who are being called upon to make new sacrifices to meet the present emergency. The only way to foster a solution of the unemployment problem is to make the work given to the unemployed of the productive variety and to see to it that all wastage of effort is eliminated. By this means more permanent sources of employment can be opened up and the very character of the relief provided at this time can be made a stepping stone to better conditions.

There are few more pregnant lessons of the fallacy of State interference in industry than that of the United States Farm Board. It has been not only a calamitous but a costly failure. Governments, in meddling with production, seem to ignore the lessons of history and the first principles of political economy. Of that Farm Board The London Daily Telegraph says: "Harsh as economic laws may be in their bearing on individuals, no workable substitute for intelligence, foresight and co-operation among producers themselves has ever been devised; and effective State control, could it be generally applied, would always leave consumers exposed to the risk of bad seasons and famine."

There is much to be said for zest in games. The enthusiast in the playground is the conscientious worker in the more serious affairs of life. This is recognized by scientists. As Sir Arthur Thomson says: "Those who play best will, on the whole, work best, live best and love best."

COUNSEL TO A YOUNG SISTER

Carry your little head up, proud and high. Thinking no goal unworthy of a try. Pattern your life more from the things I preach. Then from the mold my poor examples teach. Decide which path your toes should rightly take. And though it seems your tender heart must break. Fail not once, but keep eyes straight ahead. A woman is hurt if rose-thorns make her bed. Should moments come with powerlessness a rife. Think: "These are but the lesser loves in life; And if thy vital reason chances to swoon. Remember! There's a man up in the moon! Swear not on earth but know full well—He is the only man who will not tell."

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

"Sweet are the uses," but bitter the fruits of adversity—An unadorned adaptation.

Surveying general political chaos in the Mother Land, and the wreck of political parties in other lands as well as in the Old Land, an interested but unattached observer of current events may be pardoned for speculating about the next possible turn in the political wheel of fortune. The political party which seems to be most directly affected by the debacle is the historical Liberal party. That party which has played a prominent part in the grand political pageant of the British Empire, is rent into fragments. As a once-prominent politician said of another institution, it is now nothing but a thing of shreds and patches. The extremity of the Liberal party is, of course, its own fault, or possibly it would be more correct to say the fault of its leadership of its lack of adequate leadership.

This summary of the political situation in Great Britain applies also to the political situation in Canada. The present position of the Liberal party in Canada has been attributed by thoughtful Liberals to inadequate or ineffective leadership. Neither in this country nor in the Mother Country has Liberalism marched in step with the times nor "lived up to" its honorable traditions. The charge has been made against the Liberal party of Great Britain by one of the prominent leaders of the Socialist party that the present business and political crisis in Imperial affairs is due entirely to the action of the Liberal party—that instead of trying to check the late MacDonald Government in its policies of ruinous extravagance, the Liberal party encouraged the late Government in its hazardous social experiments and urged it to make experiments in still more hazardous social extravagances.

Whatever the facts in regard to this charge, there is no doubt of the fact that the Liberal party of Great Britain kept the MacDonald Government in power long after facts had proclaimed the unworthiness of the Government for the responsibilities of power. Both the Prime Minister and his Chancellor of the Exchequer have frankly admitted that they made mistakes and that they resigned office temporarily in order that an opportunity might be given another Government to rectify their errors of judgment. Such an experienced statesman and gifted public man as Mr. David Lloyd George must have foreseen the inevitable consequences of the course of the MacDonald Government, but he remained loyal in Parliament, deftly manipulated the political strings, and kept his political puppets dancing upon the stage for a long time after the curtain should have been rung down.

The latest report from London is that Mr. George has completely recovered from his late illness and is again in prime physical condition. If that statement is true—and even if it should be established—there need be no idle speculation about the condition of the Liberal leadership. Mental faculties. "Age cannot wither nor custom stale" the infinite resourcefulness of that master mind nor limit the bounds of that wonderful imagination. And yet Mr. Lloyd George, in the face of the political situation he was chiefly instrumental in creating, has not a word to say for the enlightenment of a mystified public. He is still the titular leader of the Liberal party, but his tongue is silent with regard to the present course or the prospective policies of that party. Like the leader of the Liberal party of Canada, he is either sinking in lethargy, waiting to ascertain the direction of the wind from the courses of the drifting straws, or he is destitute of hope that even his astute political genius can gather the political fragments together and consolidate them into a party worthy of public trust and confidence.

If Mr. David Lloyd George ever cherished in his mind an ambition that he might again become a political power in the land by casting his personal political fortunes and the political fortunes of the fragments of the Liberal party, that vain dream has been shattered by the charge of a Socialist leader that the Liberal party is responsible for the downfall of the MacDonald Government and for the state of chaos which prevails in Great Britain.

The state of Liberalism in Canada may not be as desperate as the state of Liberalism in Great Britain, but

BEGINNING AGAIN

This is the joy each morning brings,
The joy the happy linnet sings,
The joy that comes when I get up again
I catch the words, "Begin again!"

Dawn brings lost courage back again,
Brave deeds once more are coming true,
My breast reiterates the note
Morn wakens in the linnet's throat.

"Begin again and never fear,"
I hear the valiant voice of cheer,
"Begin again and know that this Man's life's a challenge shaped for bliss!"

No failure now can touch my days,
No loss cast shadows on my ways,
I have forgotten doubt and pain
In challenge of this brave refrain.

"Begin again, begin anew,
Be sure your dreams are coming true."
Forget the past and know that this Man's life's a challenge formed for bliss!"

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of September 15, 1881)

A Well-Bred Vacation—Robert Wallace, Esq., postoffice inspector for British Columbia, will sail by the next steamer on his monthly leave. No officer in the service of the Dominion has worked more faithfully than Mr. Wallace. Under his guidance the postal service in this province has grown from insignificance to its present large and efficient proportions. His departure is a loss to the postal service, and it is hoped that Mr. Wallace will study the postal system in force there with a view to introducing some improvements here.

Postoffice Buildings—Plans and specifications for the alteration of the Postoffice Building may be seen at the Dominion agent's office. The alterations consist of an office for the telegraph on the ground floor, south of the main entrance. The remainder of the ground floor will be devoted to postal purposes. The present brick walls of the building will be torn down and a new one erected in their place. On the upper floor the savings bank will be housed in the old Indian and other public purposes.

Demand for Real Estate—During the past few weeks quite a number of inquiries have been made for city and suburban property, and several sales have been effected at satisfactory prices. Among others a vacant lot on Herald Street, bounded by 17th and 18th streets, and a lot on Herby Street at 1110th, 11th and 12th streets were sold for $1,200, and G. Mansell sold his house on Richardson Street to R. White for $2,500.

"TELL ENGLAND"

Sir—As one who took part in the landing at Anzac, I should like to pay a tribute to the film, "Tell England." Having seen many war plays, not one, to my mind, can compare in vivid realism with the actual scene of the landing, or of the weary itself. The latter is indeed marvellous and conveys a most accurate impression of the spot, a few hundred yards in extent, at which the landing actually took place.

"THE SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL"

Sir—In reading the review of Elhel Barrymore I was very much surprised that your critic had neglected to mention one of the important parts of the production—the music. To me there was as much beauty in the pit as on the stage. The trio consisted of artists, and it is a discomfite of Victoria not to give them the credit they deserved. The people loved the music, and showed it with applause.

In carrying such added attraction, Miss Barrymore deserves great credit, and it should be appreciated by the press as well as by the public, for no better music was ever played in a theatre.

BRITISH FILMS

Sir—Our thanks are due to you for the splendid editorials which have appeared in your paper from time to time on the subject of British films. It is also most encouraging to note the action of the Empire Service League in regard to the circulation of propaganda against British films, etc. There is another aspect of the situation, Mr. Editor, which must not be overlooked if we would avoid a repetition here of conditions such as prevail in Britain at the present time. The studios which will eventually be built in our Province must be one hundred per cent Canadian and British, if we are to attain our objective, or the best in Empire-made films of British Columbia may prove to be far below the standard to which it is possible to bring them. In order to advance that which is highest, noblest and best in our ideals, and in the aspirations of our national life, to inculcate a spirit of loyalty to King and country, to use to the fullest extent the means which Empire-made films provide for the development of Empire and world trade, and that we may reap to the full all the advantages which will accrue from such B.C. films, I repeat that it is absolutely essential that any studios erected in our Province shall be one hundred per cent Canadian and British interests.

A VISITOR COMPLAINS

Sir—The activities of public servants are a matter of concern to all citizens, and if the police come under the fire of criticism from time to time, it is all part of the day's work. I have a criticism of police methods in Victoria to make which appears to me to be worthy of ventilation. Some time ago I inadvertently parked my car alongside a fire hydrant. Subsequently I found a slip attached to my windshield notifying me of my delinquency and suggesting I should call at police headquarters for further information. Accordingly I did so and was told by a subordinate police official that the parking of the slip was the usual course, and that no further action was required of me. I concluded that all was well, but three days later

Expiration of Time Forces Walkathon Promoter to Leave

Rumors that Mickey Thayer, master of ceremonies of the walkathon at the Canada Hall, had died, caused a large amount of money for the United States were yesterday flatly denied by the management of the contest. Owing to the expiration of his time in Canada, set by the Immigration Department when he arrived here about three months ago, Mr. Thayer was forced to extend his stay or return to the United States.

Mr. Thayer has severed all connection with the walkathon and left for Seattle. It was learned that he had had an interest in the show, having an agreement with a Vancouver partner. SHORTER WEEK BEING SOUGHT

Aubrey Jones Returns From Civil Servants' Convention Held at Regina

A resume of the business transacted at the sixth biennial conference of the Amalgamated Civil Servants' Association will be given at a meeting to be held in the Law Chamber at 8 o'clock tonight. Aubrey Jones, Victoria delegate, announced on his return from the convention yesterday.

Mr. Jones said that Harold Baker, secretary, would address the meeting.

Among the outstanding questions dealt with was a resolution urging that civil servants be given a forty-four-hour week, with one day off in every seven. This resolution was passed unanimously by the delegates.

WANT RADIOPHONES
The Victoria branch succeeded in getting its resolution regarding the installation of radiophones in light-houses passed, Mr. Jones said.

Another resolution passed urged the Dominion Government to place on the permanent list all temporary employees. Some departments operated with staffs of "temporary" employees who had been in the service from fifteen to twenty years, Mr. Jones said.

By placing them on the permanent list, such employees would be given the same opportunity for advancement and salary increases as those who have always been on the permanent list.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE
The convention went on record as strongly opposed to any deviation from the merit system of promotion. A resolution endorsing the principle of unemployment insurance was also passed.

Mr. Jones said that W. A. Benyon, M.P., addressed the delegates and that during the course of his speech stated he had investigated civil service conditions in Ottawa and found the buildings were overstaffed with salaried persons who had little more to do than read newspapers all day. Politicians and not civil servants were to blame for his, the speaker declared.

Mr. Jones also attended the Canadian Chamber of Commerce convention being held in Regina at the same time and extended to the delegates the greetings of the civil servants. In addressing those present he said that the majority of civil servants were striving to perform their duties faithfully, and asked that on any occasion they had a request to make the Government the Chamber of Commerce see that the civil servants be given an opportunity to present their side of the case.

MANY DELEGATES
Delegates from thirty-six points, representing 5,000 members, attended the conference. The organization is ten years old. Mr. Jones explained and held his first convention in Victoria, the association's birthplace, in 1921.

Election of officers was as follows: Harold Baker, of Vancouver, national president; F. McGrath, of New Westminster, vice-president for British Columbia; C. J. Goshin, vice-president for Manitoba; R. Wilson, vice-president for Ontario; E. Eggleston, vice-president for Saskatchewan; O. Finn, vice-president for Quebec; J. S. Spiller, vice-president for Alberta; and F. Knowles, full time secretary with offices in Ottawa.

SUING COMPANY FOR ACCOUNTING

Harnam Singh Claims Part Interest in Mayo Lumber Company in Court Action

Translation of evidence in the suit of Harnam Singh against Kapoor Singh, being heard in the Supreme Court here before Chief Justice Morrison, impeded progress of the trial considerably because interpretations were difficult and were frequently corrected by individual interpreters of counsel. The case, which opened yesterday morning, has been before the courts for the past six years.

Harnam Singh is claiming an interest in the Mayo Lumber Company, formed in 1917, and still operating in the Cowichan district. Harnam Singh is claiming a twenty-third interest through the purchase of a part of a share of one of the original shareholders. The plaintiff is also asking for damages for trespass, winding up of the company's affairs and an accounting of the business and an injunction to prevent the sale of any part of the property or business.

J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., and Gordon Sloan are appearing for the defendants, with the exception of Sheam Singh, also one of the defendants, at present residing in India, who is represented by Mackenzie Matheson, F. C. Elliot and Hamilton Read appear for the plaintiff.

APPEALS FOR SASKATCHEWAN

Rev. E. F. Church, at Ministerial Meeting, Praises Courage of People

The people of Saskatchewan are manifesting indomitable courage in the trying times through which they are called to pass now, due to lack of rains, and winds which have ruined the chances of obtaining a crop, according to Rev. E. F. Church, who recently arrived from the Prairies to become pastor of the Metropolitan United Church here.

"The people of the affected districts will come back again as strong as ever," added Mr. Church.

The new pastor of the Metropolitan Church spoke before the Victoria General Ministerial Association yesterday morning. It was his first meeting, and during his address he made a stirring appeal, which, he said, should apply to all the rest of Canada.

"There should be no hesitancy on the part of other Canadians to come to the assistance of the residents of Saskatchewan, who are now undergoing a severe trial," he declared.

The meeting was presided over by Rev. W. R. Brown, of the James Bay United Church, who has just been elected president of the association.

Is One-Half Your Income Insured? " " "

YOU wouldn't care to live on less than one-half your present earnings, would you? Neither would you want your family to struggle along, alone, on any smaller amount.

That is why it is wise for you to insure that at least one-half of your income will continue. You can do it easily and economically by investing only a few dollars in Life Insurance.

For example, if your earnings are $44 a week—you should own Life Insurance sufficient to yield a weekly return of at least one-half that amount.

That would mean protection for your wife and family—or, if you live, provision for your own old age.

Consult any Life Insurance representative and he will advise you how you can insure one-half your income. You will find the outlay is very small compared to what it offers in peace of mind and security against the future.

FORD trucks furnish low-cost transportation to a large percentage of the business concerns in the Dominion.

To be exact, official figures of the various provincial governments show that 41.3% of all commercial units sold in Canada, during the first six months of 1931, were Fords. In some provinces, as high as 60% were Fords—trucks and light commercial cars.

These figures are swelled by the large number of Ford fleets operated by leading commercial users. One thousand fleets of five or more Ford units are serving Canadian businesses. There are more than one hundred fleets of twenty or more units in daily operation. Among those they serve are the Bell Telephone Company of Canada; Imperial Oil Company, Limited; Imperial Tobacco Co. of Canada; Swift-Canadian Co., Limited; Standard Brands; British American Oil Co., Limited; Canadian Pacific Express; David Spencer Co., Limited; T. H. Estabrooks (Red Rose Tea); Coca-Cola Co. of Canada, Limited; Canadian National Railway; Canadian Pacific Railway; Canadian National Express; and Borden Farm Products.

The unquestioned value which Ford units offer is one reason for their widespread and large-scale use. Another is the definite economy they effect in distributing costs. In many modern businesses, the cost of distribution represents the major operating expense. Package delivery companies, for whom the cost of trucking is almost the only expense, are finding Ford units reliable and economical. Departmental stores, transport companies, road-building companies, and others are depending more and more on the Ford to keep their transportation costs at a minimum.

The Ford 1 1/2-ton truck is available with a number of standard bodies, while others for every need are available from body-manufacturers. There is a choice of 131 1/2-inch or 157-inch wheelbase, 6.6 or 5.14 rear-axle gear-ratios, and single or dual rear wheels.

The Ford light commercial car, with four factory-built bodies, and a wide range available from body-manufacturers, meets every light-hauling need.

Your Ford dealer will gladly demonstrate the type of Ford unit that your business requires.

"GP" Tubes are Circle-Built

When a "GP" Circle-Built Tube is inflated, the stretch of the rubber is evenly distributed all around the tube... No wrinkles or creases can possibly form on the inside circumference.

Circle-Built Tubes conform perfectly to the shape of the casings when inflated. They are left moulded and cured in a complete circle and are, therefore, in their natural position when inflated in a tire, without stretch or distortion. This overcomes the tendency to rip when punctured.

Citizens' Unemployed Fund
Reaches Last Day of Campaign of Collections

"With less than 25 per cent of its objective of $250,000 subscribed, the Victoria Citizens' Unemployed Fund appeal has reached its last day. The office will close tonight and Victoria's effort to provide means for the relief of suffering through the medium of public benevolence, will end," a representative of the committee said yesterday.

"Outstanding examples of self-sacrifice have marked the campaign, but the relatively small number of citizens who have contributed has been a regrettable feature. The committee experienced many disappointments, and for weeks it has carried on with the knowledge that failure was almost certain.

"Sir Frank Barnard, Mayor Herbert Anson, Fred Landsberg, and several citizens have worked assiduously, always hoping that the turn but, in this last day of the drive, hope has reached a low ebb.

"If everyone had the same urge as a widow, with an income of less than $10 a month, who insisted that her contribution of 50 cents be accepted, the final chapter of the campaign would be a song of victory.

WIDOW'S MITE

"This widow was much distressed when headquarters was reluctant to accept her proffered gift. 'Please let me help,' she pleaded. 'I shall not be happy if you refuse my humble offering, which is given with a heart full of love and sympathy for the poor people who are so badly in need of help.' The money was accepted, and the giver was happy in the knowledge that she had done her best to relieve distress among unemployed citizens.

"Winter is coming and pleasant evenings will be spent in front of glowing logs on many hearths. But what of those who will suffer cold, hunger and other hardships? Generous contributions to the fund will prevent suffering, and the donors will not hear in the howl of winter wind the cry of parents and children who suffer lack in a land of plenty.

"In concluding our appeal we would ask of all citizens one question: Does it mean nothing to you that men, women and children will suffer want and misery unless you do your share to prevent it?" the representative said.

Contributions, large and small,
should be sent to headquarters, corner of View and Broad Streets, tele-tonese arrived from Shanghai yesterday only to find that an evil spirit had preceded him and that his father, Chin Sun Yip, was dead.

Chin, the elder, was found lying in an outhouse at the Hendry
Greenhouses on Kenneth Street, Saatchi, yesterday afternoon. Beside his body was found a bunch of bananas and a bag of cyanide crystals, an intensely volatile poison.
One of the bananas had been eaten by the son, and traces of cyanide were found on the wrinkled face of the venerable Chinese. It is believed by police that Chin had eaten lumps of cyanide and sought to take away the taste by alternate mouthfuls of banana. Thus it was that the son, who had lived frugally in order to save enough money to visit his revered parent, became grief-stricken and attracted the attention of nearby workmen by his cry of sorrow.

Chief of Police Allen Rankin was notified and the body was removed to Thomson & Fetterly's mortuary, where a post-mortem will be held tomorrow by Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner.
Besides Chin Wing Hong, the Chinese is survived by another son in China.

What One Girl Wore BY BETTY BROWNLEE

It was made of that really lovely old-fashioned calico that has come back this year to win great popularity. Printed in a small blue design on a white background, it featured a youthful round neck and short puff sleeves. A braided black sash was placed at the normal waistline and finished with black pompons. Black was used to bind the neck and sleeves, too. And a love graceful flare was set on the skirt coming from the knees.

Children's Lunch Boxes Have Nourishing Food

There is no meal that should be planned more carefully than the school lunch. The pie-pie-pie-pie lunch, that once accompanied Johnny in his pursuit of learning has now given way to a scientifically balanced, appetizing, nourishing luncheon of fruit, vegetables, milk, simple sweets and healthful sandwiches.

Johnny may even be fortunate enough to be able to eat at a school lunch-room. Many schools, however, lack eating facilities, while reduced family food budgets may, in many cases, make it necessary this year to return to the old-fashioned lunch box.

In planning the school child's lunch, one should realize that it must furnish one-fourth to one-third of the day's total food supply and particular care must be taken to make it appetizing. Foods such as the refreshing, healthful orange, which stimulates appetite and furnishes Vitamin "C," important for general health, and especially important to a growing body because of the part it plays in the proper development and functioning of bone and tooth structure, should be an important part of any school lunch.

THERMOS BOTTLE
If possible, a thermos bottle filled with milk, a malleable soup or a hot milk drink such as cocoa, should be put in. Sometimes the soup or hot drink may be obtained from a school.

The lunch may also contain a sweet such as dried fruit, a piece of cake or cookies. A small fruit salad packed in a jelly glass is a welcome surprise in the lunch box and is popular with children. Fresh fruit probably makes the best all-around dessert, and is certainly the most healthful.

Sandwiches, which are the foundation of such a lunch, should have substantial fillings, such as cheese, eggs, meat and nut butters. These provide protein and are particularly important if milk does not accompany the lunch. Fillings should be tasteful.

SOME SUGGESTIONS
Following are some simple lunch box recipe suggestions:
Lunch Box Orange—Cut off peel at top of an orange and then cut in quarters down sides. Partially coarsen skin for easier eating; or extract fresh orange juice and put in thermos bottle. Other fresh fruits in season can be included, though none can really take the place of the orange from a health standpoint.

Carrot, Celery and Nut Roll—Hollow out centre of split roll and fill with carrots, celery and nuts, ground together and moistened with lemon juice and baked salad dressing. This is a healthful sandwich variation popular with children.

Lemon juice is an important flavoring ingredient in meat, fish, egg and other sandwich fillings, where added tartness and liquid are desired.

Moistening filling with lemon juice to taste.
Orange Nut Bread for Sandwiches—Two cups sifted flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, quarter-cup sugar, quarter-cup shortening, half-cup finely chopped nuts, one egg, orange juice, one tablespoon orange marmalade. Sift dry ingredients together, cut in shortening, add nuts; beat egg, pour into measuring cup, add enough orange juice to make two-thirds cup. Combine with dry ingredients and add marmalade. Knead a few seconds on slightly floured board. Let stand in refrigerator or cool place half-hour. Then bake in loaf pan in moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) till done—about forty-five minutes. (Note—A little more orange juice will be needed with some flour to make the dough soft.)

FRESH FRUIT DRINKS
Though there is nothing particularly harmful about soda pop and the various other drinks that children buy around the school, these drinks certainly do not add any appreciable amount of calories or other food essentials to the diet; in fact, they serve to displace other foods or drinks that are really important. Fill a thermos bottle with orange-ade, lemonade, or the following delicious drink and the soda pop habit will soon be broken:

Fruitade (individual service)—Two tablespoons crushed pineapple or pineapple juice, one-third cup orange juice, half-cup water, one tablespoon sugar. Drain pineapple, if canned, but do not extract all packed in a jelly glass is a welcome surprise in the lunch box and is popular with children. Fresh fruit probably makes the best all-around dessert, and is certainly the most healthful.

Vegetable Milk Soup (individual service)—One-third cup of left-over cooked vegetables (potatoes, carrots, peas, corn, spinach, asparagus, etc.), two-thirds cup milk, one teaspoon butter, salt. Vegetables should be cut in fine pieces. Cover with milk, and add butter and salt to taste. Bring to boiling point. Put in thermos bottle. If a number of different vegetables are used, they may be boiled for a few minutes in water to cover and then rubbed through a strainer or purée sieve. One of the small cans of pure vegetable soup, such as are sold for babies, may be used for the vegetable.

MEMBERS HEAR OF PROBLEMSProf. E. S. Farr Tells Gyros of Situation During Economic Maladjustment

"Problems in a Period of Economic Maladjustment" was the topic of an address given to members of the Victoria Gyro Club at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday by Professor E. S. Farr, professor of history and economics at the Victoria College.

"Governments have come to the stage where they deem it necessary to curtail production," Professor Farr stated, "and several suggestions in this direction have been brought to the fore." He continued to show how mass production at the present time was only employing about one-half of the men that it formerly did.

PRICE FIXATION
"One of the present problems we have to face is that of price fixation," he continued. "Many men state that prices and wages are too high, but the producer who cuts wages is only cutting down production cost a small fraction."

The speaker said that the British Labor party had suggested raising wholesale prices, but this only results to the disadvantage of the retailer.

"Another problem is the business attitude of men," Professor Farr stated. "We have extremes of pessimism and optimism." He said that there was a certain philosophy of defeat among many of the young men of today which should be erased.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE
"The problem of international trade is also presented," declared the professor. "Ever since the development of the mercantile system we have cut down international trade." He asserted that the Bank of England, with a reserve of $700,000,000, was doing more business than the joint banks of France and the United States with a seven-billion-dollar reserve. These figures were taken from a recent bulletin of an Eastern banking firm.

Professor Farr announced himself as partially in favor of Henry Ford's new scheme, under which every employee must cultivate a vegetable garden. "This," he said, "promotes a certain amount of independency."

Paved roads, totalling 153 miles and costing nearly $8,000,000, are being built in the Province of Santa Fe, Argentina.

Spots Takes to Cover

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

When truth is known it doth appear
Even independent folk know fear.
—Mother West Wind.

To Flip and his three friends it seemed as if Spots the little Spotted Skunk, was the most independent person in all the Great World. "I don't suppose there is anyone he is afraid of," one remarked. "He is very near the truth, but not quite the truth. Armed with that little scent gun of his, Spots went and came about as he pleased. If he neared the Coyote the latter stepped aside politely. If he happened to cross the path of Howler the Wolf, Howler appeared not to see him. If he happened to meet Digger the Badger hunting for a dinner, Digger simply passed the time of day and went on his way. If Yowler the Bobcat mistook him for someone else, he retreated as soon as he discovered his mistake.

So it seemed that this independent small person could fear no one, because they all feared the little scent gun he carried, always ready for use. But there was one who did not fear that scent gun, and Spots knew it, and because of this, was never quite easy in his mind, despite his seeming independence and fearlessness. That one was the Great Horned Owl. Moreover, he had a liking for Skunk meat. Spots couldn't understand the big Owl's contempt for that little scent gun. He thought about it a great deal.

"It must be that he can't smell," he decided. "That must be it. I don't see any other way to account for it. Well, whether he can smell or not, he doesn't seem to mind it, and he certainly isn't afraid of it. I do wish he wouldn't stare at me. It is very inconvenient for me, for that is when I want to be out and about."

The very evening after he met Flip he had one of the worst nights in his life, and as a result went hungry for most of the night, simply because he didn't dare resume his hunt for something to eat until the night was far gone. He had been digging under a rotten old log for beetles, when something warned him that all was not well. He saw nothing and heard nothing. It was just a feeling. But Spots had learned long ago that such a feeling was a warning, to be heeded first and wondered about afterward. Without wasting a minute he dived into that old log, which, fortunately, was hollow. It was equally fortunate for him that he had been digging right at the open end. Even as he dived in he heard the angry click of a big bill, and knew that a Great Horned Owl had just missed him.

A few minutes later he heard the Owl alight on that log, and the sound of those great claws made him shiver. When the Owl left he didn't know, for the big bird left silently. You know, the wings of Owls make no noise. They gave no warning.

"That must be the same fellow who gave me a dreadful scare the other night," thought Spots bitterly. "He must be living around here, or else he has discovered that this is one of my favorite hunting grounds. If he is going to hang around here I will have to move on. Such uncertainty is too hard on my nerves. My scent gun doesn't do me any good with that fellow. I'm as helpless as a Rabbit when he is about. My, but that was a narrow escape! It is a lucky thing for me that this old log was so handy."

Even when the night was far gone, Spots hardly dared venture

What Today Means

"VIRGO"

If September 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 4:10 p.m. to 6:30 p.m., and from 9:15 p.m. to 10:50 p.m. The danger hours are from 8 a.m. to 10:10 a.m. and from 7 p.m. to 8:50 p.m.

September 15 is, astrologically speaking, a generally fortunate day, but particularly for minor and passing interests. If energy be used, business will prosper, as the influences are quite favorable. In domestic circles, differences of old standing will be composed, and a clearer understanding established. A child born on this September 15 will have a strong personality, capable of great good or evil, but will be inclined to dream. Unless curbed, its ways will be dilatory thereby wasting its powers. Its disposition will be rather cantankerous. It will, however, have a way with it that will rob its criticism of asperity and disarm resentment.

You, if born on September 15, have a good head, a keen mind, and a penetrating intellect. You are eminently fitted for work of a special character, such as research, statistical or scientific. Keeping in a rut of routine will blunt the edge of your capability, and you will become a cog in a wheel instead of its hub. You are concentrative, and allow no diversions to interfere with you when engaged in unravelling a problem.

You can write more convincingly than you can talk. In conversation you are confused and hesitant, but in writing you are lucid and fluent. Notwithstanding your many natural talents, you hate the limelight, and it never worries you who gets the credit for a job—provided it is well done. You are rather too sensitive for your own peace of mind. You are very mindful of criticism, but quite indifferent to adulation.

Your temper—quick and fiery—militates against you, especially as you are slow to make the "amende honorable." You are many-sided and take a live interest in a variety of subjects. Your reading is quite diversified. You will probably travel a good deal. Capable of a strong love, you will expect much from your mate. If reciprocity in the full sense of the term is not forthcoming, you will suffer—and suffer much—in silence, rather than voice the ache of disappointment.

CHOICES JURY TRIAL
NEW WESTMINSTER, Sept. 14.—William Bagley, alleged Harrison Hot Springs Hotel bandit, elected for jury trial when he appeared in County Court before Judge J. N. Ellis. Bagley is charged with robbery with violence at the hotel. He is alleged to have robbed Joe Bush, hotel employee, of $750.

Paved roads, totalling 153 miles and costing nearly $8,000,000, are being built in the Province of Santa Fe, Argentina.

FIVE TEAMS TO PLAY IN SOCCER LOOP

Same Elevens as Last Year to Form First Division of Local League

SECOND SECTION TO BE ORGANIZED

Five elevens, Jokers, Esquimalt, Victoria West, Victoria City and Saanich Thistles, will be seen in action in the senior division of the Victoria and Island Football League this season. Information to this effect was made known last night following a meeting of the executive held at the Y.M.C.A. More clubs applied for franchises but were turned down when the dukes decided that the same teams as last year were sufficient. To overcome the situation officials decided that a second division would be formed if enough teams were available. Applications from the first division squads must be filed by Monday, while entries for the second division will be received up to September 28.

The opening date and schedule for the season will be made at the next meeting of the league. All the clubs are going through workouts and should be in first-class condition when the curtain rises.

Varied Reports Turned In by Week-End Hunters

Birds Reported Plentiful at Jordan River, Sooke and North End of Island—Many Deer Brought to Town by Sportsmen

Hunters who opened their season over the week-end met with varied luck, according to reports gathered from a number of sportsmen who returned to town last night. Several gained their bag limits of grouse in certain districts, while others had had luck, and some returned with only one or two birds. Deer were reported plentiful in practically all districts. Reports of those who traveled to the north of the Island were generally good, and several local hunters who went to Merrville and Oyster River districts had some fine shooting, and secured their bags early. At certain parts of Sooke birds were reported to be plentiful, while at Jordan River, hunters declare there are more birds than at any time in several years.

SCARCE ON MALAHAT
Around the Malahat district and other parts of the Lower Island, except those mentioned above, birds were reported to be scarce, especially on the once famous Malahat. Hunters are of the opinion that the heavy road operations carried on during recent months were partly responsible for the scarcity.

Judging from the amount of deer seen on the runs, the number of cars on the George Road and other highways, there are plenty of these animals at large. One fine six-point buck was noticed Sunday, while several other large deer were also reported shot by game wardens, who looked over the cars.

The extremely moderate winter, no doubt, helped both birds and deer, and hunters report that pheasants, quail and other game birds, to come in later, are more plentiful than for several seasons.

SENIORS LOSE SEATTLE MEMBER
T. S. Lippy, prominent in Seniors Northwest Golf Association, Passes Away

When the members of the Seniors Northwest Golf Association gathered at the Royal Colwood Golf Club next Summer for their annual championship meet, among the prominent players who will be registered among the "missing" will be Thomas S. Lippy, Seattle. Word reached the city yesterday that Lippy, who was a former titleholder, died in the Seattle General Hospital, after being confined there for two days. He passed away on Sunday at noon at the age of seventy-one. He has been in ailing health for some time, although he was only two days in the hospital.

Year after year, Lippy was one of the first to send his entry form into Secretary Perks for the Seniors' tourney. Hundreds of outside and local members of the veteran golf association will miss the sound advice and member when the time comes for the 1932 tournament.

Doctor Dick's Letter Box

TIM MATSON

Dear Doctor,

Why do husbands develop maddening little habits? Mine has a "Hem, hem" complex that is slowly turning me into a tooth-grinding, knife-clutching, blood-lusting, potential "killer."

For instance, eternally: "Hem, dear. The telephone. Hem, hem!" or "Hem! Rain in the offing, dear! Hem. Yes, hem. I think so, hem, hem!" or "Intermittent Pickle's down to '90's. Hem, hem, hem..." Oh, why can't he cough like a man—at least do something definite about it, and stop that terrible skittering around?

Yours, with small bronchial tubes,
MRS. KNOTT-HOOKING.

Dear Madame,

The subject of habits you bring up (and, apparently one that your husband does not) has, and always will be, one of the world's insoluble mysteries.

It seems necessary, however, that with maturity the majority of husbands must develop maddening stomachs, rolls of horizontal sausages on the backs of their necks, curly ear-whiskers, "free-wheeling indigestion," and, worst of all—small, but nevertheless, monstrous, habits.

I can sympathize, Mrs. Knott-Hooking. I loathe a "hem, hemmer," no less positively than a "quite, quite," a "preoccupied, table-drumming, bridge-whistler," a "kick-the-pup-for-an-excuse, tummy-rumbler," or an out-and-out "pause-and-click-a-tooth."

However, my dear, such characteristics are chronic, and I can't help you. You might try to "Oh, yeah," or "O.K., chief" him to death, though, and failing that an insane and perpetual "rum-te-diddle-de-ding" might take effect.

Yours, marking the tablecloth with a fork,
DOCTOR DICK.

Brampton Fans Go Wild Over Lacrosse Win

BRAMPTON, Ont., Sept. 14.—Over 1,000 fans went wild with delight after a two-hour suspense Saturday evening, when the glad word was flashed that Excelsiors had triumphed over New Westminster by 4 to 3, and retained the Mann Cup and the Dominion senior lacrosse championship.

For an hour following the final results, the plaudits of the fans were paraded the streets were reminiscent of the Armistice celebration.

Excelsiors, twice-crowned champions of Canada, will be given a rousing reception on their return. Already preparations are being made for the welcome.

JACK PUTS TWO MORE TO SLEEP

Former Heavy Champ Kayoes Pair and Tops With Complete More at Salt Lake

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 14 (AP).—Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, knocked out two of four opponents in a exhibition here tonight.

Jack Silvers, 210, Chicago, lasted only forty seconds, the former champion sending him down with a hard right to the chin. Bill Longson, 190, Salt Lake City, lasted two and one-half minutes, Dempsey knuckling him out with a series of body and head punches. Del Baxter, 196, Cornish, Utah, went two rounds, Jack boxing with his opponent. Tony Clawson, Salt Lake City, also boxed a round with the erstwhile mauler. Clawson cuffed Dempsey with several head blows, but failed to hurt him. Jack gave the youngsters a boxing lesson.

Five thousand persons attended the show.

Stanley Stasiak Passes Following Bout With George

Stasiak, familiarly known as the "villain" of the mat by thousands of devotees of the wrestling art, died of septicaemia, a form of blood poisoning. He was injured in September 3 during a bout with Ed "Don" George, former world's champion, of Buffalo.

V.A.S.C. MAKES WINTER PLANS

Weekly Swimming Meets to Open Tomorrow Evening at Crystal Garden

Preliminary arrangements for the Fall and Winter seasons were made by the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club at a meeting of the association's executive at the Belmont House. Besides the officials, a good turnout of members was in attendance.

Plans for a Winter programme, including weekly swimming meets on Wednesday evenings and also a series of social gatherings were completed. About the end of October a monster school children's gala will be held, in all probability, at the Crystal Garden.

To further interest in the weekly events, a series of handicap races will be arranged, for which prizes will be given for the highest number of points at the end of the season. All those interested are requested to be at the Crystal Garden at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening.

SOCCER DUKES DISCUSS RULE

Pacific Coast Football Officials Debate New Substitute Rule

VANCOUVER, Sept. 14.—At a meeting of the Pacific Coast Football League on Saturday night, officials expressed themselves as being in favor of using substitutes this season. One suggestion is that two substitutes shall be allowed each team during a game, without the relieved player being allowed to return, and the other is that substitution be allowed only twice during a match, with the player who goes off permitted to return.

The two new rules relative to the throw-in and number of steps to be taken by a goalkeeper while carrying the ball will be adhered to. In the case of the throw-in, the opposing side gets the throw if an infringement is committed instead of a free kick, while the goalies can now take four steps with the ball instead of two.

The league constitution was adopted with few changes from last year.

S. White Chosen Prexy of Church Badminton Club

Matches will be played at the club four nights a week between the hours of 8 and 11 o'clock. New members will be welcomed by the committee.

CHINESE LEAPS FROM DOCKSIDE

Pens Artistic Valedictory Message to Cousin, but Ship's Crew
Cheats Death

Translation of four Chinese characters, artistically drawn on a narrow strip of white paper, gave police an explanation of why Chong You jumped from No. 2 Wharf at Rihet Piers yesterday morning.

The Chinese was rescued from the water by members of the Empress of Russia crew and turned over to immigration authorities until taken into custody by city police. "I intend to jump in water. Please do not be sorry." This was the message Chong left to his cousin, Chong Young, Sunday night. Chong Young immediately communicated with the police when he found the message, but Chong was not found until yesterday morning. Apparently he had slept on the wharf all night and then jumped into the water shortly after 8 o'clock. Why he postponed his act until daylight police could not understand.

Y.M.C.A. CLASSES COMMENCE WORK

Activities in Junior and Intermediate Boys' Groups Are Directed by Archie McKinnon

Activities in the boys' section at the Y.M.C.A. got under way yesterday when members of the junior schoolboys' class, junior employed class and intermediate employed class, held their first workouts of the season.

The schoolboys were the first to take the floor, under the direction of Archie McKinnon, physical instructor. They were followed by evening sessions attended by the latter two classes.

At 4:15 o'clock this afternoon, the intermediate school boys will take the floor for their initial practice, while the junior leaders will work out at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The first session of the preparatory class will be held on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Work in the senior section will commence next week. Senior business men will have periods on Mondays and Thursdays at 5:15 o'clock, under W. S. Maguire. Junior business men will commence next Tuesday at 5:15 o'clock. The young men's group will start activities at 8:15 o'clock the same evening. Both the latter classes will be under the supervision of Mr. McKinnon. The senior business men this year have been allocated an extra half hour's time in their schedule, as it is expected that there will be a larger attendance than formerly.

SHERIDAN, Ore., Sept. 14 (AP).—William Durschmidt, thirty-eight, of Grand Monde, was accidentally killed Friday by his brother, Frank, while the two were hunting bear in the hills near the Salmon River Road.

The two had separated, each to look for bear tracks. Frank heard two shots. He looked across a canyon and believed he saw a bear. He fired three shots and then went to the spot, where he found his brother dead, a bullet through his neck.

POLICE TO GIVE BRAKE TESTING

Systematic Check-Up of Automobiles Proposed by Chief Heatley

Further steps are being taken by Chief of Police Thomas Heatley to minimize accidents in Victoria. Commencing in October, a systematic check-up of motorists' brakes will be made.

Chief Heatley yesterday said that through the traffic department automobiles brakes would be tested during the last week of every second month, starting with October.

A machine, specially adapted to the gauging of brake efficiency, will be used, and lights will be tested at the same time. The testing station will be placed in a different part of the city each time, so that traffic on all main arteries will be given the tests.

REMARKABLE RESULTS
Reorganization of the traffic department has already produced remarkable results. The motorcycle squad under Sergeant Benjamin Acreman has already warned between 250 and 300 motorists and instructed them in regard to ar-

Famous Leaders to Meet at Banquet

A UNIQUE banquet for all the available survivors of the seventeen great statesmen, twenty-two naval officers and twenty-two military officers portrayed in three noted pictures of war personalities which Sir Abe Bailey, South African millionaire, gave to the British National Portrait Gallery some time ago, is to be held in London in October. Twenty-six of the sixty-one have died, but above are some of the living who will be present. Top, left to right: Sir Eric Geddes, statesman; the Maharajah of Bikaner, statesman; Sir W. R. Birdwood, soldier; and Sir Robert Borden, statesman. Bottom, left to right: Earl Beatty, sailor; Right Hon. David Lloyd George, statesman; Right Hon. Winston Churchill, statesman; and Lord Morris, statesman.

terial stop signs and other traffic regulations.

The programme of instruction and warning will continue until September 20, when traffic violators will be subjected to more stern methods in the campaign to reduce accidents.

IN DOWNTOWN AREA
In the downtown area the traffic squad under Sergeant Arthur H. Bishop is concentrating on preventing traffic jams, checking up on parking violations and making the busy crossings more safe for pedestrians.

Chief Heatley said that the work in the downtown area will be greatly simplified when the automatic traffic system is installed.

DEATH CHEATED BY FISHERMEN
Miss Nancy Cruickshanks Stumbles Off Breakwater, but Is Rescued

Total loss of memory yesterday almost cost the life of Miss Nancy Cruickshanks, twenty-one, of 1751 Sixth Street, when she wandered out on the breakwater and stumbled over the edge.

W. O. Carter, of the Cecil Hotel, and J. W. Hawthorne, of 1137 Johnson Street, heard the splash and saw the girl sink below the waters on the west side of the breakwater.

They were just embarking on a fishing expedition and quickly rowed over to where the girl had disappeared. She was going down for the last time when Mr. Carter snatched at her wrist and dragged her into the boat. She was taken to the police station, where first aid was given until the arrival of Dr. W. T. Barrett, who had the girl removed to her home.

Miss Cruickshanks told police she remembered nothing from the time she left home until she regained consciousness in the police station.

When taken from the water she was breathing with great difficulty, but respiration first aid soon removed the water from her lungs.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

TRADING SUBSTANCE FOR SHADOW

There is an old story that tells of a dog crossing a stream with his dinner in his mouth. Glancing down at the waters he saw the reflection of the meal he was carrying and it seemed so much larger and juicier than the portion he held that he dropped his dinner in an effort to get its shadow from the water.

Many bridge players are like that. In reaching after the shadow of things that can never materialize, they lose sight of the substance that is within their grasp. Seeking immaterial tricks has cost many a game of contract. The effort to get two tricks in an adverse suit when the one trick taken at the right time is all that is necessary and the sacrifice of the "shadow" trick means only insurance that the necessary tricks will be counted, is all too general in bridge circles. Take the hand below:

East and West vulnerable. North and South not vulnerable.

10 5
 ♠ K J 4
 ♠ A 10 6
 ♠ K Q 6
 ♠ 8 5 3
 ♠ 7 2
 ♠ 4 3
 ♠ 2

The Bidding:
(The figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South West North East
Pass 1♠ 2♠ (1) 3♠ (2)
Pass 3NT (3) Pass Pass
Pass

1. Even vulnerable, North would be justified in overcalling with two diamonds. He has a fair six-card suit and more than two honor tricks in the hand. If the bid serves no other purpose, North hopes it will prove an effective barrier to a possible no trump game declaration by the adversaries.

2. East has a strong five-card suit which cannot fail to be of benefit to the partnership. While his hand is very weak otherwise, it is too strong in playing tricks not to warrant an overall. The fact that he also has negative support (three small cards) for his partner's opening bid is further justification, if it were needed for his bid.

3. With his partner's bid and possible double stoppers in the diamond suit, as well as a safe stopper in the only unbid suit, West feels fully justified in going after game.

In the play, North's choice of an opening lead is not an easy one. With such holding, my own preference would be for a lead of one of the short suits if they had not been bid, but the lead of the spade up to the declared strength is nothing to recommend it and the lead of the club through East's bid would seem to be playing declarer's game. Under the circumstances, North chooses the right lead, fourth best diamond and when the dummy was exposed on the table, West realized that its only value was in the tricks procurable in the club suit, aside from the potential value of the heart queen if the opponents led that suit. South played the ten and West here had to make the decision upon which rested either success or failure. Most players would unhesitatingly play a diamond honor and then trust to luck that South did not again secure the lead in time to lead through the now defenseless diamond suit. Of course, such play is bad. It is worse than bad; it is silly. The proper play and the only one by which the contract can be won, as the cards are distributed, is to permit the diamond ten to hold the trick. West can count on one sure diamond trick, three spades, one heart and probably either four or five clubs, depending upon the location of the club king. If the diamond suit is not established before the club king is driven out the hand of the adversary holding it. A "shadow" trick, which will probably never materialize, is certainly a small price to pay for safety.

In the actual play of this hand in a duplicate game, only one player with West's cards realized the necessity of the hold-up. He permitted South's diamond ten to win and South, while realizing the probable futility of his course, had no choice but a continuance of his partner's suit. North could now see the situation was hopeless. He can establish the diamond, it is true, but the heart king affords little promise of entry early enough to prevent the making of game. The bidding clearly places the ace of hearts in the West hand. North won the diamond return and cleared the suit. West then led a club taking the finesse. South won, but his return of any card at this time was immaterial. West made four club tricks, one diamond, one heart and three spades for game. A game would not have been made had he attempted to make two tricks in his opponents' suit.

The moral of all this is the same as that taught to the dog in the tale which begins this article.

TODAY'S POINTER
When the opponent on the left of the player who has made a takeout double intervenes with a bid, the partner of the declarer is released from the obligation to respond. Should he now make a bid it would show about the same strength required for a jump takeout of a double, or not less than one and a half honor tricks and a biddable suit.

For the sixth consecutive time the Melmothshire Quarter Session Court met and immediately adjourned at Dolgeley, Wales, because there had been no crime committed in the county.

"I have only a six-chambered revolver. Will that suffice?"
"No, I must have nine chambers. I want to kill a cat."
